

House Favors Act Providing Change In Court Process

Measure Would Permit Attorney General to Participate in Lower Court Cases in Constitutional Questions.

SOLE ACTION

No Action Taken Today on Other Proposals; Reaction in State Legislatures.

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The House judiciary committee approved today a measure to authorize the attorney general to participate in lower court cases between private parties where a constitutional question is involved.

The bill—sponsored by Chairman Sumners (D-Tex.) of the committee—embodies one of the principal proposals in President Roosevelt's broad court reorganization program.

No action was taken today on the other proposals.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, advocated a change in the retirement age of judges under the President's program from 70 to 75 years.

He emphasized that he was speaking for himself only.

The measure approved by the House committee was amended to give the attorney general the right to appeal an adverse decision in district courts directly to the Supreme Court for immediate hearing.

No Direct Appeal

Private litigants involved in such cases would not have the right of a direct appeal, however. They would be required to go to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sumners said it was possible that a previously approved bill setting up a voluntary retirement plan for Supreme Court justices might be called up for debate and passage in the House tomorrow.

Robinson's suggestion was the first proposal from a high administration leader for any change in the President's program. Meanwhile several of compromise proposals for federal court reorganization bobbed up today in discussions among congressmen, delayed with telegrams from the "folks back home" on the President's sweeping recommendations.

Other Proposals.

Constitutional amendments to curb the Supreme Court's power to declare laws unconstitutional or to limit justices' terms were prominent in these suggestions.

Most of them came from Democrats who considered too stringent Mr. Roosevelt's proposal to add six Supreme Court justices unless members over 70 retire.

Senators and representatives said most of their mail and telegrams expressed this recommendation. Little opposition was expressed, however, even among Republicans, to the President's suggestions for speeding up lower court procedure.

Opposition in Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 9 (AP)—The state house of representatives, controlled by Republicans, adopted a resolution today calling on Connecticut's congressional delegation to oppose the President's conditional proposal to enlarge the United States Supreme Court.

The house approved the resolution backed by the Republican steering committee, by a roll call vote of 155 to 90.

Democrats opposed the measure almost to a man, asserting insufficient time had been allowed the House to consider it.

The resolution, referring to Connecticut as the "Constitution State," termed the President's plan an "astounding proposal."

Four Democrats voted with Republicans for the resolution, sponsored by Rep. Noah H. Swaine, Republican floor leader.

"Covert Attack"

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Maryland Senate today passed a memorial to Congress which said it regarded President Roosevelt's proposal to reform legislation as a "covert attack" upon the federal constitution.

The measure was passed on strict party lines, 25 Republicans favoring it and 4 Democrats opposing it. It was sent to the House for consideration.

The memorial was presented in the Senate by Republican Floor Leader Senator Roy Fernald of Waldo.

It said that the "covert attack" was a "subtle and insidious" attempt to "destroy the principles of which the great document, later may be changed into the law by the President's control of the Supreme Court by the President."

Texan Disapproval

Austin, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Texas Senate today disapproved today of President Roosevelt's proposed judiciary reforms and urged Texas members of Congress to "oppose their influence and cast their votes against passage of such proposed legislation."

Frank Case Tells Jury How He Found Wife's Dead Body

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Fighting to retain his self-control, Frank W. Case, 30, hotel executive and Cornell graduate, told a jury in Queens county court today of finding the battered body of his wife in the bath tub of their Jackson Heights apartment on the evening of January 11.

Twenty feet away, Major Green, 33-year-old negro houseman charged with killing Mrs. Mary Harriet Case, 25, bride of one year, sat with a half smile on his face as the young husband detailed his harrowing experience.

"I walked into the apartment and noticed blood in the kitchen and went through the living room where I noticed disorder and a chair overturned," Case said. "There was more blood on the floor there."

"I went from the living room to the little hallway leading to the bedroom and looked into the bathroom and turned on the light." There was complete silence in the court room filled with spectators, most of whom were women, as Case said.

"Then I found my wife in the bath tub."

"Was her head below the surface of the water?" asked Assistant District Attorney John J. Conroy.

"Yes."

"I had to remove a heavy spread from the bath tub in order to remove my wife. I took her out on the floor and felt my wife's pulse and heart and I realized she was dead."

When requested by police, Case said he surveyed the apartment and found that a shirt, a blue suit and a case containing cuff links and dress studs had been stolen. The state contends that these articles were stolen by Green after he bludgeoned and strangled Mrs. Case.

Await Court Hearing.

Watertown, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosbia, Sr., parents of the child-bride of 19-year-old Stanley Backus, awaited a city court hearing today on charges of conspiracy in connection with the union. Backus, free in bail of a charge of second degree rape, is also accused of conspiracy and was scheduled to appear with them. He married the couple's daughter, Lena, whom the state claims is only 12 years old.

Jane Mauterstock Struck by Auto

Miss Jane Mauterstock of 102 Home street, a member of the Kingston High School faculty, is confined to the Kingston Hospital with injuries sustained about 5:45 o'clock Monday evening when knocked down by an auto driven by Bruce H. Van Kleeck of 124 Fairview avenue, at the intersection of Pearl street and Clinton avenue.

Mr. Van Kleeck in making out his accident report at police headquarters stated he was driving on Albany avenue and was turning left into Pearl street and as his headlights swung straight he saw Miss Mauterstock step in front of his car. He said he applied his brakes but as the pavement was icy he was unable to stop his car in time to avoid hitting her.

It was reported to the police that Miss Mauterstock sustained an injury to her side.

Local WPA Plans To Place 186 More Men On Projects Here Feb. 15

Some of Men Will Be Among Those Laid Off in December; Action Will Lessen Load of Local Home Relief.

STADIUM TALK

City Authorities Revive Talk of Concrete Stadium; May Choose Fair Grounds as Site.

That the local WPA plans to place an additional 186 men at work on projects here on February 15, was the information given the other members of the Board of Public Works by Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who presided at the meeting held Monday evening in his office in the city hall. These 186 will be some of the men who were laid off last December when the local WPA made a 20 per cent reduction in the number of its working forces.

The local ERB had been asked by the WPA to certify the 186 names. When the 20 per cent reduction was made by the WPA just before the Christmas holiday last year it resulted in the great majority of the men laid off applying for home relief as they could not find a job in the city.

It was also brought out at the meeting that up to the first of this month the city has spent $209,617.47 in cash and contributions as its share of the cost of the WPA program since it was placed in operation here.

Last month Mayor Heiselman and City Engineer James Norton held a conference with State Administrator Herzog who assured them at that time that many of the men laid off by the local WPA would be reinstated in jobs. At that conference it was also brought out that the proposed WPA program for 1937 would cost the city much more than the 1936 program.

Conway's Report

Superintendent David Conway reported that on February 3 the WPA had turned the new pumping house at Wrentham street and the sewer system recently built in that section over to the Board of Public Works for operation. He also submitted a report on street work done during January.

The superintendent and city engineer were directed to take up with the town board of the town of Ulster the proposition of the town standing its share of improving Wrentham street, which lies partly within the city and partly in the town.

Superintendent Conway was also instructed to have small ornamental signs made to be hung on the cages and pens in the Forsyth Park zoo, the signs telling the kind and breed of animal or bird within the enclosure.

Asks Signal Action

The fire board sent in a communication asking that something be done in regard to the traffic light at Broadway and O'Reilly street. This light, turns red when a switch is thrown in the Central Fire Station as the fire apparatus is leaving for a fire. This signal device is hung so high that it is not plainly visible. The public works board in talking the matter over was of the opinion that a traffic light suspended from the center of the street which would show red on all four sides when the switch was thrown in the fire station would answer the need. Finally the entire matter was referred to Superintendent Conway to investigate and report back to the board.

Vincent Joyce, a high school student, applied for the concession in Forsyth Park this summer, and his request was filed with the park committee.

Bills and claims were read and audited and the board then went into executive session to discuss the results of the recent visit of some of the members of the board to Albany and Schenectady where street sweepers were viewed in operation. The board has been discussing the advisability of purchasing a street sweeper for several months.

Stadium Discussed

Although last year the WPA rejected a project for the building of a stadium in Block Park the city authorities are still thinking seriously of having a stadium built elsewhere. That fact was made plain when City Engineer Norton submitted some blue prints he had received from a concrete manufacturer showing a stadium that had been built elsewhere.

The board discussed the matter informally and it was brought out that the Fair Grounds was considered a likely location as in addition to a concrete stadium being erected that there was room to have both a ball field and a football field as well as a quarter mile track. The stadium suggested for the Fair Grounds would seat about 2,400.

The Fair Grounds is not owned by the city, but it is likely that it could be purchased if a project to erect a stadium was approved by the WPA.

The Block Park project was rejected by the WPA who held that Block Park was largely made ground and there was not sufficient foundation to it on which to erect a concrete structure such as planned.

Notice Announced

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Worship of the magazine "Today" and "News Week" was announced today by Vincent Astor, president of the new publication.

Salamanca, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The state ski jump championship and cross-country meet were postponed today with February 20 and 21, on a report of heavy rain last night in Adirondack State Park. Race started away all snow.

Roosevelt and Astaire Sartorial "Tops" in U. S.

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, who started a style with his unusual inauguration day cutaway, and Fred Astaire, movie star credited with taking the comedy out of a tuxedo, topped a list today of 16 male fashion leaders.

The line-up of twentieth century American Beau Brummels was announced by the Merchant Tailors' Designers' Association, which is meeting here.

"Mr. Roosevelt," said I. H. Milbourn of New York, association president, "is the only President in the past 20 years who could intelligently be termed a well-dressed man and the only one in years whose formal clothes have not looked moth-eaten."

"He is conservative, but he has originated several vogues, notably the cutaway made entirely of one material which he wore at his second inauguration. He is always perfectly dressed for the occasion."

Milbourn said Astaire "is responsible for convincing the American man that a tuxedo is not comic or stiffed, but a correct and good looking garment."

Lucius Beebe, New York newspaper columnist, was included in the list as "the greatest dandy of his time—a perfectionist in dress."

Edwin Goodman of New York, president of Bergdorf-Goodman, women's dress house, was described as "an example of perfect sartorial taste for the older man."

Annual St. Ursula Play on February 25 At St. Mary's School

On Thursday evening, February 25, at 8 o'clock, the high school students of the Academy of St. Ursula, Marygrove, will present their annual play in St. Mary's School Hall.

The presentation, "Palms," with its fascinating historical background and the vital problem of its theme, promises to be an intensely interesting performance.

The action takes one back to pagan Rome in the persecution of Valerian and to the refuge of the Christians, the Catacombs. The conversion of the heroic commander of the Imperial Legion, with his subsequent arrest, reveals one of the thrilling episodes of the period.

Posters advertising the play have been placed about the city.

Last year's performance of "Little Women," in which the work of the cast called forth highest praise and drew a large audience, set a mark which the present players are hoping to surpass.

THREAT OF STRIKES IN 210 GREATER NEW YORK BUILDINGS

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—A threat of strikes today in 210 New Manhattan and Bronx buildings came from the Building Service Employees' International Union after its members in all five New York city boroughs joined forces to extend their sporadic walkouts to Westchester county and Newark, N. J.

James J. Bambrick, president of the Greater New York Council of the Union, said Brooklyn building operators would be confronted with walkouts Thursday and other localities after that.

To Rush Pay Legislation

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—New York's legislature stamped "rush" today on proposals to restore pay cuts to New York city employees in line with recommendations by Governor Lehman and the New York City Board of Estimate. The Democratic senate leadership prepared to put to a vote before nightfall two bills designed to repeal the 1932 economy act under which the pay cuts were instituted and a third authorizing New York city to reopen its 1937 budget so as to add the required amount necessary to make up the increased pay. The amount has been estimated at $4,500,000, affecting 110,000 workers. The pay restoration would become effective July 1.

Halperin Murdered

Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—Sudden death caught up with Henry "Knockout" Halperin, 38, a strong-arm racketeer, last night. He was shot out of an automobile into a gutter and six revolver slugs were found in his body at a busy corner of downtown Brooklyn. Four times, Halperin had cheated death in the electric chair. On each occasion, arrested on a different charge of murder, the case against him was dismissed. On three occasions he was "let on the spot" by state attorneys, but survived.

St. Townsend Pleads Innocence

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Francis E. Townsend pleaded innocent today in federal district court to a charge of contempt of the House. His trial was set for February 23. The charge was placed against the old age pension organization head because he walked out of a House hearing on pensions last year and refused to return and resume his testimony.

State Ski Jump Postponed

Salamanca, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The state ski jump championship and cross-country meet were postponed today with February 20 and 21, on a report of heavy rain last night in Adirondack State Park. Race started away all snow.

New Strike Parley Due At 8:30; General Motors Says Talks Are Futile

Lewis Says All is in Readiness for Resumption of Operations, if Union is Recognized as Bargaining Agency.

NO CAR OUTPUT

No Passenger Cars Produced, but Truck Division is Running at Top Speed.

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—General Motors Corporation consented today to continue discussions to end the widespread automotive strike after indicating it saw no use in further conferences.

The almost complete silence that has marked six days of conversations between representatives of the corporation and striking union members was broken last night with the issuance of a formal statement by the automobile company of its position.

Until then Gov. Frank Murphy, who called the parties together at the behest of President Roosevelt, had made the only public comments upon the proceedings. General Motors' first statement was followed a few hours later by one from John L. Lewis, director-general of the strike.

The corporation assured Gov. Murphy "of our readiness to respond to an early call by him to resume conferences, if in his judgment any good could result therefrom."

Lewis revealed for the first time that a proposal had been under consideration to resume operations in General Motors plants immediately if the corporation would accept the union's demand for recognition as the bargaining agency for employees in 20 plants.

Notwithstanding the divergence of opinions expressed in the statements of the opposing sides, Gov. Murphy declared that "I feel the parties are closer together now than at any time."

Will Meet Tonight

The Governor announced they would reconvene at 8:30 p. m. (E. S. T.) tonight.

As sit-down strikers remained in two Fisher Body plants at Flint, Mich., focal point of the strike, for the 42nd day and 40 of the 67 domestic plants of General Motors were either closed or operating on a restricted basis, the loss in earnings to workers continued to mount.

A reliable source estimated the total payroll loss, including today, as $22,000,000. The loss in business to the company was incalculable as its factory wheels slowed down to the point that not a single passenger car was being completed. The General Motors truck division, however, was running at top speed.

More than 100,000 General Motors men were idle. At one time idleness reached a peak of 135,000, but part of the workers have been returned to part-time employment.

The number of workers in related industries—suppliers of materials and parts—was counted in the tens of thousands, but no accurate figure was available.

Some 80,000 dealers and salesmen of General Motors cars also were affected.

During the peak of unemployment due to the strike, William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president of the corporation, said the daily payroll was $1,000,000. It was estimated as being approximately $750,000 daily now.

Grants Wide Powers

The Flint City Commission, declaring a "state of emergency," extended, bestowed virtually dictatorial powers upon Mayor Harold E. Bradshaw. One-fourth of the city's 165,000 population is employed by General Motors, and 28,900 of them were out of work.

General Motors revealed that it offered to have the state conduct a secret ballot to determine "the proportion of the workers who wish to be represented by the union," adding that "this was not satisfactory to the union representatives."

Lewis said General Motors did not guarantee that anything would "materialize" from such a referendum and that the company wanted "only to determine the extent of union membership."

"Out of all the conferences and discussions which have taken place," the General Motors statement said, "the fundamental issue again asserts itself—the power of the union to prevail based as it is on violence, disregard of law and order and contempt of the courts, or on the legitimate rights of over 125,000 workers to be considered, thus warping the forces of law, order, justice, reason and civilization."

Lewis continued in his statement that the union had made the offer to return the men to work immediately if the corporation would accept the recognition the union demanded.

Green's Endorsement

William Green, American Federation of Labor president who is at odds with Lewis over the method of organizing workers in mass production industries, gave qualified endorsement to the strike in a Washington press conference.

Green said that some of President Roosevelt's chief labor advisers had convinced him to remain aloof from the General Motors situation as possible because of the rivalry between the Lewis and Green labor factions.

2 Youths Held For $1,300 Fur Theft At Bahl Warehouse

BRUTALLY SLAIN

Body of 18-year-old Mary Ellen Babcock sent to Centerville, Pa., for burial. "Maniac" killer sought by Buffalo Police. She was killed Saturday night.

Bahl's Warehouse Broken Into Early Today by Forcing Rear Door; Owners Discover Theft and Call Police.

FURS RECOVERED

Stolen Furs Found Hidden in Cave at Spring Quarry; 2 Held for Grand Jury.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning Milton Bahl and one of the drivers employed by his father, Alex Bahl, went to the warehouse at 36 East Pierpont street, to obtain some furs, since they planned to leave early for New York city. As they drove into the warehouse yard they noticed an automobile pulling away, and found the rear door of the warehouse had been forced, and by quick checking discovered that furs to the value of $1,351.30 had been stolen.

Mr. Bahl immediately called up police headquarters and reported the burglary and then jumping into the car he attempted to follow the car he had seen driving away from the vicinity of the warehouse, but lost it.

An alarm was sent out over the police radio which was picked up by Officers Fallon and Burns in one of the radio cars, who responded to the alarm. In the meantime Mr. Bahl had been checking on the furs in the warehouse and found that 618 muskrat skins, valued at $1,297.80; four mink skins valued at $48, and one red fox skin valued at $5.50 had been taken.

Acting on a hunch, Fallon and Burns drove over to the house of Benny Ledarowicz, 24, of 118 Third avenue. As they drove up to the house they found an auto standing in front which was steaming badly, showing that it had been driven rapidly and had been parked but a few minutes.

In Bed Fully Dressed.

The officers entered the house and saw they found Benny Ledarowicz and Stanley Szymanski, 19, of 102 Fourth avenue, in bed. They were fully dressed and had not even removed their shoes. They ordered the pair to get up and took them to police headquarters.

At police headquarters they were closely questioned by Acting Sergeant Fatum.

As a result of the questioning the officers and Szymanski drove to the Spring Quarry in Lindley's Woods, just off Locust avenue, and in a cave near the spring they found several bags in which were the furs, the police say were stolen from the Bahl warehouse.

Alleged Statements.

Back again at police headquarters the questioning was resumed and the police say that both Szymanski and Ledarowicz, whom the police know as "Benny the Horse," made statements.

According to the statements which the police say that both youths made, they had met at a friend's house and borrowed the friend's auto and then drove to the warehouse. They parked the car near the warehouse and then using an iron bar had forced the rear door and entered the building.

They gathered up quantities of furs and stuffed them into bags which they placed in their parked car and then drove out to Lindley's Woods where they hid the furs in a cave.

Held For Grand Jury.

Later this morning both youths were arraigned before Judge Culliton in police court at which time they both waived examination and were held to await the action of the grand jury on charges of burglary in the third degree. Bail is to be fixed by county court.

Drives to County Cars.

Alex Bahl, who was at the city hall this morning to see what disposition was made of the case, said that the value of the radio cars was easily seen by the quick work of the police department in clearing up the burglary by arresting the two youths and recovering the stolen furs, which he identified as those taken from his warehouse.

The entire case was cleared up and the youths recovered within a very short time after the police department first received word of the burglary.

Disciple of Father Divine Held as a Reckless Driver

William Solomon, who gave his age as 39 and his birthplace as the British West Indies, was brought to the county jail Monday night by Deputy Sheriff De Silva, where in default of $50 bail he was held pending a hearing at 2 p. m. Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Lester S. Davis, of West Shokan. He is charged with reckless driving.

Solomon, who left no doubt in the minds of the deputies at the sheriff's office Monday night that he was a follower of Father Divine, gave his residence as Samsonville, where he said he was one of some half dozen of the disciples of the Harlem negro leader who were at present in charge of the property recently purchased at that place.

Solomon was arrested by Trooper Dunn on complaint of Rennie Dumont of Krumville, who claimed that his car was sideswiped by a car driven by the defendant, at Krumville Saturday night.

The defendant claims that the accident was due to his car skidding on the ice and that the only damage done to Dumont's car was to a hub cap. He said that he got out of his car at once and showed his license papers to Dumont and asked to see the other's license, but that Dumont refused to show his license and went on, later securing a warrant for his arrest.

"Got you on two charges, young man," they remarked as they arrived beside his car.

Headwork Eliminates All Footwork In Psychology Professor's Office

Round he goes a quarter turn to the left to dig into his "morgue" for clippings and reports filed functionally so the most important are closest at hand.

Dr. Donald A. Laird, Colgate psychologist, sits down here in his scientifically arranged office. Typewriter is in front of him, phone within easy reach.

Another quarter turn, and left-handed Dr. Laird is set for punching his 10-key adding machine. His shirt sleeves are cut off to save him rolling them up.

And he comes out here. Before his work table is a radio for broadcasting to classrooms or listening-in on other parts of his efficiency-plus laboratory.

The Mail Must Go Phew! Armonk, N. Y.—If the person who mailed that package of fresh skunk skins will call at the postoffice, Postmaster Charles Kaiser will be glad to relinquish it.

Definitely, said Kaiser, that package is not going through the mails. As it is, the clerks are having a pretty tough time going through the mails in the same building.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth tells how Senators choose a light smoke... considerate of their throats

"I often lunch in the Senate restaurant at the Capitol. Nearly every Senator and Representative there smokes, and the number I see take out a package of Luckies is quite surprising. Perhaps surprising is not the word. Because off and on, ever since 1917, I myself have used Luckies for this sound reason: They really are a light smoke—kind to the throat. It's simply common sense that these Senators and Representatives, whose voices must meet the continuous strain of public speaking, should also need a cigarette that is considerate of their throats... a light smoke."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth

THE FINEST TOBACCOS—
"THE CREAM OF THE CROP"

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Mrs. Longworth's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

Boy Scout Rally Here Saturday

The annual Boy Scout Rally for the Boy Scout troops of the Kingston District will take place Saturday afternoon and evening in the State Armory on Manor avenue.

This annual event is looked forward to by not only the Scouts but also their parents and friends as well, and the officials of the Kingston District feel that this year they will have as fine a rally as they have had in the past.

The various exhibits will be put in place Saturday morning so that by 9 o'clock Saturday afternoon the public will be permitted to view the various exhibits.

The program in the evening begins at 7:45 and will include a series of demonstrations and events. Music for the evening will be rendered by the Kingston Municipal Band and Orchestra under the direction of Roger Baer. This will be the first real public appearance of this group and the members of this band and orchestra are looking forward eagerly for this opportunity to show their abilities.

As usual the annual rally is open to the public and there is no admission charged.

Van Deusen Again Heads the Shriners

Fred L. Van Deusen was unanimously re-elected president of the Kingston Shriners' Association at the annual meeting held Monday evening at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

The other officers, also re-elected, were John F. Carnright of Saugerties, vice president, and Edward M. Stanbrough, secretary-treasurer.

The annual meeting was one of the most lively and entertaining ever staged by the local Shriners.

The tentative report of the treasurer showed that they cleared over $1,700 on the annual ball held for the benefit of the Industrial Home, but as there are a number of the tickets still to be accounted for, it is thought that the final amount will be close to $1,800 when all the returns are in.

Cyrus Temple of Albany surpassed all expectations of the local Shriners by bringing down a bus load of entertainers and staging a 10-act professional show which included a very clever master of ceremonies and an orchestra. The entertainment was of the highest standard.

After the show a splendid buffet luncheon was served and a social hour enjoyed.

It was the consensus of opinion that this was one of the most enjoyable meetings the Shriners have enjoyed in many years, and a rising vote of thanks was extended to Potentate Chris Stittig and his Divan for providing such an enjoyable evening of fun.

The Locals, by defeating the Commuters at basketball, have gained the championship of the first two rounds in the Intra-mural Basketball League competition. In the preliminary to the varsity game the Kappas conquered the Delphic team 24-18 to place second in the contest. The Commuters realizing a victory would put them in position for a play-off, fought madly to overcome the lead the Locals compiled in the first quarter. By the end of the third quarter they managed to tie the Locals at 19 all. In the final stanza a field goal by Meagher put the Commuters in the lead but a basket by Connelly and a foul shot by Stelle put the Locals ahead. The game ended without further scoring but with plenty of action in the Commuters' effort to stave off defeat. The Kappa-Delphi game was an exhibition worthy of preliminary encounter. Their final score was 24-18. The second half started on Friday with the Locals playing the Kappas and the Commuters facing the Delphics.

The Outing Club compulsory meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, February 10.

The seniors sponsored the last prom of their Normal School career on Saturday night. It was considered a great success by all who attended. Four hundred guests were ushered into a winter wonderland and danced to music by the Roger Baer Ensemble. An appropriate ice house served as a refreshment stand. The seniors had not only a record attendance at their prom but they had entertainment at a formal dance. This has never been done before. Harold Darling acted as master of ceremonies and introduced Dolores Klotz, who did the skater's waltz and the demonstration waltz. A team consisting of Dorothy Moore and Joe Malloy added a touch of Hollywood to the evening. Mr. Darling, baritone, sang a melody of appropriate songs. Ann Scomia sang a duet with Harold Darling. The senior promenade was very impressive. The Boys' Glee Club accompanied the promenaders. Next came the big event of the evening, the coronation. Genevieve Brown and Charles Neff were crowned queen and king of the winter carnival by Dr. Lawrence H. Vandenberg, principal.

The date for the Country Life Club Barn Dance has been set for Thursday night, February 18, at 8 o'clock in the Normal gymnasium. WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Feb. 9.—The Olive town board held a special meeting at Olive Bridge on Friday. Resolutions were adopted for holding a special election, for the purpose of voting on a proposition to erect a town garage on the tract of land recently purchased at Broadhead from the heirs of James McMillins' estate. Cornelia Davis of West Shokan was not yet sufficiently recovered from the grip Monday to resume attendance at Kingston High School.

Last Tuesday morning Foreman Joe Steinlauf and Ernest Beasmer, en route to their employment on the Beaverkill Hill road project, as they started over the Ashokan maula dam dyke, observed some distance ahead an animal in the roadway leap over the upstream face of the main dam. Stopping at that point and looking over the wall, there on the ice some thirty feet below lay a buck deer which had leaped to its death. Inspector Fred DeWitt was notified and subsequently the carcass was taken to the Kingston Industrial Home by Judge Lester S. Davis and Joe Winkler, where the children were privileged to enjoy a mid-winter treat of savory Catskill mountain venison.

Ice harvesting was in progress Friday and Saturday and Sunday at Cold Brook pond where employees of Beachford Farms were busily engaged. The ice appeared to be in fine condition and some eight or nine inches thick. Harvesting from "The Weir," below the Ashokan dam, is expected to be under way this week by department of water supply employees. The thickness of the ice is said to be nine inches.

Charles Duloft of Boiceville called on Martin J. Every at Traver Hollow on Sunday. Mr. Duloft expects to resume logging operations from Mr. Every's mountain lot, he having received an order for a quantity of maple lumber.

REGULATION OF YOUTH

If Congress is given the power to regulate the youth of the country—and Congress always uses its power—young people under 18 will not only be deprived of the opportunity to do suitable light work, but this country will see a new type of young person, who will be utterly worthless. For this reason alone, the proposed child labor amendment should not be ratified by the state legislature.

Furthermore it is unwise because it goes beyond American principles of democratic government. It is also unwise because it is not actually an amendment to stop harmful child labor, but gives the government absolute control over youth of the nation. It is unnecessary because harmful child labor can be eliminated definitely under powers now existing, without establishing a grant of unexampled authority over youth.

The proposed amendment would give to Congress authority to "limit, regulate or prohibit the labor of persons under 18". There is no restriction of any kind to this power.
 There is no check or balance of any kind such as America always has depended upon. Such a grant need not be made. A decision of the United States Supreme Court has pointed the way to total elimination of child labor harmful to mind or body under existing laws. Under the precedents established in the decision on the Ashurst-Sumners and Hawes-Cooper acts, states can act to prevent the sale of goods made by child labor within their borders and the federal government can prohibit their transportation in interstate commerce to their borders.

The Assembly should defeat the move for ratification in accordance with the wishes of the people, who showed themselves strongly opposed to it last year and in previous years.

AHEAD OF HIS TIME

The reputation of Thomas Paine, revolutionary patriot whose 200th birthday was celebrated recently, long suffered from the charge of "atheism." Probably it was never true. Probably Paine's idea of God was merely different from that of most Americans in his time. Now-a-days we are more tolerant about such questions, and judge men on broader grounds.

By any civilized standard, Paine must have been a very great man, almost inconceivably ahead of his time.
 Here are a few of his many enlightened ideas: He was advocating equal civil rights for women a hundred years before Susan B. Anthony.
 He urged abolition of slavery 99 years before Lincoln. He proposed a League of Nations to outlaw war 150 years before Wilson. He anticipated the Monroe Doctrine. He invented a planing machine and foresaw steamships and steel bridges.
 The copyright law was his idea, as were public schools, compulsory education, old age pensions, labor unions, graduated income and inheritance taxes, the draining of swamps to prevent yellow fever and sanitation for various other diseases. Such men fertilize human thought and can never be too highly honored.

TAMED REBELS

The last of the patriots or outlaws, according to the point of view, who fought at the side of Argentine Sandinistas in Nicaragua, has just surrendered to the National Guard of that country. He is General Pedro Antonio Irujo.

The most interesting things about his surrender are what he himself said and what the government has done. To his captors he said, "I am glad I am a free man again." He had been living in the mountains for 19 years, eating monkeys, hares, deer, grass and tree bark. He was always in fear of being killed. Surrender came to mean freedom from hardship and constant fear.

Times have changed from the days when a surrendered rebel was stoned before a firing squad. Nicaraguan rebels are now being treated as

Somosa, has given Irujo money to start a farm. Fifteen former Sandinistas are likewise now peaceful farmers, receiving full protection from the government. It is an easier life than dodging about in the mountains.

NATIONAL DRAMA

The Little Theatre movement goes right ahead, stronger than ever, in spite of a slight come-back in the professional theatre with business recovery. Starting with 60 small theatre groups in as many cities 15 years ago, there are now said to be 2,000 such groups. They cover the country. They not only produce plays, but they often write them, and as a matter of course have come to make their own scenery and costumes and work out their own lighting problems. According to an article in the Delineator, the productions of these groups, along with plays given by high schools, churches and clubs,
 now amount to about 500,000 a year.
 So great is their popular appeal that in many places they have one member to every four or five families in the community.

No wonder the decline of the professional theatre is viewed calmly by the American public. The country has a far more vital dramatic art than it ever had before. And out of this amateur movement, perhaps,
 will arise in time a new and great professional stage.

That Body
of Hours

By James W. Horton, M.D.

 Copyright Act)

LACK OF SLEEP

As a boy I had a set of Jules Verne. His "Mysterious Island" particularly thrilled me and I read a few chapters every night before going off to sleep. The reading of this one book thus lasted me perhaps a couple of weeks. Today the boy in his teens can go to a movie and see "The Mysterious Island" or similar picture in an hour or two; he therefore has all the balance of time I spent in reading it, to spend in going to more movies, driving a motor car, playing games or engaging in various other activities.

Now with all these different things to occupy his time and mind, there is not the same amount of time for sleep or rest, and school teachers and physicians in America and Europe are reporting the large number of cases of boys (and girls also) who are tired and inattentive at school.

"Homework" is a necessity but with so many interests, athletic and social, occupying mind and energy, the amount of homework given the growing boy and girl should be carefully considered.

Generally speaking it is only the occasional boy or girl who really overworks himself or herself; those working for scholarships. The only real harm is in the way the steady hours of sitting affect the working processes of the body.

Where the real trouble or damage occurs to the boy or girl is the interference of all the various interests—school, play, social life, home study—with the amount of sleep or rest that is obtained.

Dr. William Brockbank, a school physician of Manchester, in the British Lancet says regarding this lack of sleep:

"It is only fair to mention that very often lack of sleep is caused not by homework, but by the boy not being able to settle down to it and so wasting time. Late nights naturally leave a tired brain, and therefore work takes longer the next day."

Going to bed an hour earlier means that rest is taken before brain and body are overtaxed and thus the same amount of sleep brings more refreshment. It really takes an extra hour of sleep to make up for the extra hour of work done when one is overtired.

The thought then is that when the boy or girl is a little inattentive or perhaps a little slow at school and there is no infected tooth or tonsils present, it may be lack of sleep or rest that is to blame.

First Sales for What Edmund Boyle's "Short Treatise on the Game of Whist" entered at Stationers' hall in London, November 17, 1741, was probably the first group of gentlemen played the game at the Crown Coffee house.

 They laid down the principles of the game as being "to play from the strong suit; to study the partner's hand; never to force partner unnecessarily and to attend to the score." Boyle was probably influenced by this group.

police would naturally see the letter,

"Of course," nodded Anne. "Write

Who Went To Vronski's?

BIGLOW, making sure that all traces of recent grief had vanished, said to Lorna hesitatingly "You didn't tell us about going to Vronski's apartment, you know."

"Going to Vronski's apartment?"
 repeated Lorna, looking at him wide-eyed.

"Yes. On the night of the murder."
 "Oh! But I never did," said Lorna.
 "But the papers said a taxi driver had come forward."

"I know," said Lorna. "I saw it.
 Topsy goes in to Larrytown for the papers. But I wasn't anywhere near Vronski's apartment. I didn't even know he'd got an apartment. I thought he was still at the hotel."

"So the woman in the mink coat was not you?" cried Bigelow.

Anne stared. She had forgotten all about the woman in the mink coat for the moment.

"No," said Lorna positively. "I don't know who she was. Maybe someone else. I was blackmailed.
 I don't suppose I was the only one I mean a man who would go in for that sort of thing wouldn't be content with one victim, would he?"

"No," agreed Bigelow dryly.

"And so many women have mink coats have they? I mean—Topsy's got one."

"It went off to be refined that very day, thank God," grunted Topsy.

"I didn't mean you, was the woman. You're not small and dark."

"Not young," agreed Topsy.

"But there must be hundreds who would fit that description," went on Lorna. "For instance the Baroness Dormstett!"

"But she's got gray hair," said
 Topsy.

"Yes, black mixed with gray. Under a black hat and an eye veil it might easily look dark. And she's small."

"Not young, either," said Bigelow.
 But he was wondering. To what extent could one depend upon the taxi driver's description being true? Suppose the baroness had gone directly to Vronski's apartment from the studio party? She could have got there and gone again before he and Austrellitz arrived. She could have burgled the apartment. She would just have had time to do it. And for all they knew to the contrary, she might have had a key. Perhaps she had! In love with Vronski!

Raising Turkeys.

The turkey, instead of the eagle, should have been America's national bird, Benjamin Franklin once said. Year-around raising of turkey is becoming common, and there is a revival of interest in raising this colorful bird.

Good turkeys can be raised in New York state, but "know the facts first" says the experts. Cornell has a new bulletin on turkey-raising that tells how to breed, in feed, to manage and to market the birds.

Gives Interesting
Data of D&H Canal

The Delaware and Hudson Canal,

through which for 70 years anthracite coal had been transported from the company's mines in the Lackawanna Valley to tidewater at Eddy-ville at the head of the Rondout
 Creek, was abandoned in December, 1898.

The Canal was completed from Honesdale, Pa., to Rondout on the Hudson River, a distance of 108 miles, in the month of October, 1828, and during that month the first small-boat made its way to the Hudson with a cargo of 10 tons of coal.

In the following month of November, a fleet of 10 similarly laden boats passed over the canal. In 1830 the company's mines produced 42-000 tons of anthracite, and in 1880 to 1875, production had reached 3-000,000 tons. This period around 1875 marked the height of the can-al's prosperity. At this time there were 1,400 canal boats plying the waters on the canal and Hudson river, and also a large number of coal barges. Too much railroad competition, however, reduced the amount of business, so that there were only about 250 boats left carrying the coal on the man-made waterway in the year 1898 when operations ceased.

Of itself, the Delaware and Hudson Canal was a cheap means of carrying coal, but owing to the extra handling required to transfer the cargo from the mine cars to the canal boats and then to barges upon arrival at the terminus at Eddyville, it was unable to compete with steam railroads and so was abandoned.

It might be of interest to younger boatmen and to the public to learn that the coal barges of the canal company were old Hudson river and Long Island Sound steamboats converted into coal barges in the forties and fifties. The towboats that did the towing for the canal company in those days were the "Mohagan,"
 "Emerald," "Victory," "Santa Claus," "James Madison," and the "Norwich."

A list of coal barges that plied on the old Delaware and Hudson Canal has been assembled by George W.
 Murdock and is printed below. The

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 14

Deductions for Professional Expenses

A professional man may deduct all necessary expenses incurred in the pursuit of his profession. These include the cost of supplies used in his practice, office rent, cost of light, water, fuel, and telephone in his office, the hire of office assistants, and expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile, based upon the proportion of time it is used in making professional calls or for other professional purposes.

Many physicians used their residences both as their offices and their homes. In such instances the physician may deduct as a business expense the rental value of the rooms occupied for office purposes if he actually pays rent, and also the cost of light and heat furnished these rooms. Also, he may deduct a portion of the wages paid domestic servants whose time is partly occupied in caring for these rooms. Membership dues in professional societies are deductible. Physicians and assistants who keep in their waiting rooms current magazines and newspapers for the benefit of their patients may deduct this item as a business expense. The cost of professional journals for the taxpayer's own use is also a deductible item.

The cost of technical books is not a deductible item, being a capital expenditure, but a proportionate amount for each year's depreciation of the books may be deducted. Insurance premiums on office or other professional equipment and liability insurance may be deducted. A premium paid for automobile liability insurance should be apportioned and that part of the premium attributable to business may be deducted as a business expense.

The economics of individualism seems to be getting as much out of date as the individual shoemaker or buggy-builder.

A Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—If a canary suddenly should burst out with a raucous "Polly wants a cracker," it would hardly be more startling than the tone of a recent speech
 by Secretary Wallace.

Of all the "bring them forth alive" advocates of aid for farmers, Wallace has been most insistent upon the federal way as the best way. It was "federal can do this best" and "federal can do that best" with Wallace until old hand states-rights were not much surprised when one time he said even the state lines were out of kilter and ought to fit economically integrated areas rather than follow older lines.

But hard to this lark:
 "In any attempt to create a better tenant farming system in the United States, the states themselves will have to take the most prominent part."

That was Secretary Wallace.

Two Reasons

THERE are two prominent factors contributing to the secretary's change of melody. First, he was speaking to the council of state governments meeting in Washington and he knows how to temper the wind to the shorn lamb. Second, only a month before the resettlement administration and responsibility for doing something about farm tenants had been precipitated into his lap. He, therefore, was eager to invite cooperation from the states, and equally eager to put some of the responsibility on them.

Wallace's suggestions marked a sharp change in direction in the resettlement program. Rexford G.
 Tugwell, while resettlement administrator, pressed for tenant ownership. Wallace says that is a good idea but not immediately feasible. He wants quicker results and proposes that the states enact laws to give greater security to the tenants on the land they lease.

That, he says, would have several immediate good effects. It would cause the tenant to conserve the land he farms. It would improve his own ultimate condition and benefit the landlord. It would encourage the tenant to look to his place as a home over a long period of years.

His Proposal

SPECIFICALLY, Wallace suggested that state laws be amended so tenants could not be removed from the land on less than one year's notice except for special cause, and so that they would be reimbursed for improvements.

He recognizes that some tenants are constitutionally unfit to own and operate land. Yet the number in that class, he insists, is less than

Consider Adequate Highway System

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP).—New York's Legislature considered today the appeal of the state highway survey committee for long-range planning of a highway system "which will be safe and reasonably meet the requirements of modern motor vehicle transportation."

"The economic loss involved in the failure of the state to maintain an adequate highway system cannot be estimated," the committee said in its annual report which was accompanied by a series of bills introduced immediately.

One measure provides that receipts from the permanent two cent tax plus an emergency one cent tax on gasoline and the present registration fees be used only for highway purposes.

Three others ask an additional $11,000,000 of state aid annually to New York city, and counties exclusive of New York city for construction of new town and county roads.

Others would provide for snow removal and sanding of roads under direct state supervision, construction of arterial and by-pass highways in upstate cities at state expense and financial aid for up-state cities for highway and street maintenance; and relieving the state, counties and towns from liability in accidents caused by icy roads.

Accidental Death

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP).—Coroner Fred G. Eaton's verdict of accidental death climaxed today an official investigation into the drowning of two men whose automobile plunged through the ice of Saratoga Lake Sunday. A state diver recovered the bodies of the victims, Harold K. Ross, 42, of Albany, and Paul Scantlebury, 46, of Schenectady, from lake bottom last night. They were identified by relatives.

'STRIKING' FOR LONGER HOURS

Demanding among other things a change of bedtime hours from 3 a. m. to 6 a. m., five Park avenue youths conducted a "sit-down strike" in a New York night club. Before the five checked out after 60 hours, they prepared formal demands on their parents asking: (1) recognition that they are now adults and (2) fewer parental restrictions on liquor consumption. Highland News

Architect Attends Session of Board, Tells of Conference

Highland, Feb. 9.—Edward C. Smith, the architect engaged by the local Board of Education to draw plans for the proposed new addition to the present school building, was present at the meeting of the board on Friday evening.

Mr. Smith had been in Albany the previous week and consulted the officials in the state department. The local members of the board had decided upon placing and equipping the new north wing for the high school and using the old building as an elementary school. A letter received from the department of Dr. Hixon reversed the plan, and this was the subject of some discussion. Mr. Smith noted the needs of the school particularly the gymnasium, auditorium, homeliving room, science laboratory, activity, agriculture, typing, library and class rooms as a help in preparing plans. The discussion of costs entered into the talk and the board authorized Mr. Smith to prepare papers asking for a grant for federal aid.

It was reported that local fire commissioners insisted upon an outside fire escape upon the Seaman building. Since there are but 12 pupils located on the second floor and a wide staircase in the hall leads directly to the front door and the conditions had been looked into by both state and the district superintendent and approved, no action was taken at this time.

Bills were received from Dr. Victor Salvatore and A. W. Deyo, the former for medical services on a broken tooth received in a football game and the latter for milk and cream used by the homeliving department. These were ordered paid. Two accidents were reported, that of Stanley Benson, who received a cut on his head from a fall on the radiator while running and Alice Wincheser having a finger injured in a door. These had been cared for by the school nurse.

Roland Hyatt of Milton has entered to complete his high school course in preparation for his future profession. Mr. Hyatt left school before the June examinations and was permitted to return upon payment of the tuition for the last half year. The secretary read the names of several applications received for teaching positions. In this connection the principal, A. H. Campbell, was asked to prepare his recommendations regarding the faculty to present at a meeting to be called soon. Mr. Campbell said there was a need of two large and one small wastebaskets, and soap dispensers. He was given permission to purchase the articles. Transportation was asked for the debating team for Monday to Kingston, for both the affirmative and negative teams and coach, making seven persons. Permission was given for a car as conveyance. Mr. Campbell also asked for permission to have lines painted in the upper hall for the playing of shuffle board as the game was enjoyed during the noon hours, and this request was granted.

Since state aid had not been received and there were several bills presented the clerk was authorized to procure a certificate of indebtedness to the amount of $2,499 to be paid March 15.

Mrs. J. D. Rose, president, presided at the meeting with A. W. Leet, clerk, Philip T. Schantz, C. Imbrie Richards and William H. Maynard being present.

AMATEUR NIGHT PROGRAM AT ELKS FEBRUARY 10

Plans and arrangements are rapidly being developed for the amateur night program which will be staged at the Elks' Club on Fair street on the night of February 10. The performance of that night will be strictly amateur, all professionals being barred. Local amateur talent will therefore be assured of the valuable cash prizes to be awarded to the winners, who secure the greatest amount of applause from the audience.

Old timers will no doubt recall many of the Friday night amateur programs presented at the old Opera House. It is hoped that many of the winners of such programs still living in the community will again reveal their hidden capabilities in the entertainment line.

Several have already written in to the amateur committee, Elks' Club, and made their entry. Entries must be in the hands of the committee by February 12. All interested should enter now in order to be assured of a place on the program.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 8.—Edward Leyder, Sr., has returned to his home on the Krekeler place following a major operation and period of treatment at a Kingston hospital.

Shokan friends of Donald Dubois of Ashokan have received cards from the young man at Winter Haven, Fla., where "Don" and his "Melody Knights" are having a successful season.

Charles Arnold of Kingston was numbered among the recent business callers in the village center.

Burr Elmendorf, well known reservoir employee, has swapped his old Chevrolet sedan for a later model.

Mrs. Oscar Ganter and son, Emmett, have returned from a visit of several days in New York city.

Approximately 185 persons and groups were contributors to the Red Cross flood relief fund of nearly $250 which thus far has been collected by Chairman Julia Winchell and assistants in the drive. Perhaps never before has there been such a generous response to a call for distress funds in the town of Olive.

Clyde Winchell is home again after having spent two weeks in New Jersey and New York city.

Earl Elmendorf and Frank Gordon, two DWS employees of long service, had an exciting experience Friday when the Dodge truck in which they were riding broke through the ice of the west basin of the Ashokan Reservoir near the old Rutherford farm. The men had set out to haul cordwood from an island on the city's forest preserve, and at a point some distance from the north shore the rear end of the truck went through the ice, letting the whole machine into six feet of water. The occupants escaped without injury. It probably will be found necessary to lower the waters of the basin before the truck can be salvaged.

Residents of the twin villages were interested in The Freeman announcement of the marriage, January 31, of Miss Gladys E. Wells to Ralph Van Kleeck of Kingston. Miss Wells resided here several years before removing to Woodstock.

Paul James, clerk at the corner store, made a business trip to New York city recently.

Olive News of February 2, 1897: The Lend a Hand Circle of the King's Daughters held a meeting February 4 at the home of Mrs. Frank Burdett of Brown Station. It was the first meeting since Mrs. Jennie Bevier, one of the circle members, went to her heavenly home.

Isaac Every, James Every and Walter Brooks are hauling logs for Z. P. Boice's sawmill. There will be a sheet and pillowcase party at the home of Egbert Dederick, February 13, for the benefit of the Brown Station Chapel fund.

The funeral of Mrs. Alva F. Davis was held from her late home on the 7th. Frank Wood, who has been ill for nearly three years, is failing fast and there are no hopes for his recovery.

George Weeks of Stone Ridge was a Sunday caller at the home of his father, Ephraim Weeks, and aunt, Mrs. Sarah Bell.

The work of paving the road leading from the city's colony at Brown's through the Winchell's Falls neighborhood, with shale is rapidly nearing completion. The road, which joins the Lomontville highway below the spillway, runs through a picturesque section not generally known to the motoring public.

Continuation of the hard surfacing beyond the Olive line into Marbletown would provide the reservoir country with still another scenic drive.

Herbert A. Tibbels of the BWS engineering staff at Lackawack, has recovered from a severe cold which kept him confined to his home here.

Rent Doesn't Worry Cave Dwellers

The Waddle Family Cave.

Birdseye, Ind. (AP).—Nathan Waddle, lumberman, solved the rent and tax problem by moving his whole family into an old Indian cave in the woods near here. Everyone is quite comfortable, thank you.

Waddle built a wooden front to the cave, put in a window and a couple of doors, partitioned the interior into three rooms and installed an old wood-burning stove with the flue leading out the front. Then his wife and two daughters, Beulah, 11, and Lily, 6, moved in.

Last summer Waddle had a good corn crop despite the drought and the fact that his only tool was an old hoe.

"We're not complaining," Mrs. Waddle says cheerfully. "One thing we have to be grateful for in the cave is good health."

The children like their home, and Russell Andry, their teacher, says they are doing well in school.

Sea Captain Lives In A Water Tank

Captain Gilligan's Globe.

Coral Gables, Fla. (AP).—An overturned water tank is white-haired Capt. Thomas H. Gilligan's "home, sweet home." He moved in last fall after piloting a boat here from Wilmington, N. C.

Once part of nearby Hialeah's water system, the globe-shaped tank was left in a field near a boulevard leading into this suburban Miami section.

Gilligan enters through a narrow, weed-grown opening at the bottom of the tank. He sleeps on an old bed spring set on two of the tank's beams.

Cooking is done on a rack laid on four stones.

His white seaman's cap hangs on a post near his shaving mirror. He says he is waiting for "another ship to come in."

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Feb. 9.—Mrs. G. C. Schrader of Miami, Fla., writes of having seen in the Old Post Office Building there, Federal Art Project paintings by Arnold Wiliz, John Nichols, and Henry Mattson.

Caleb Milne visited in Woodstock with his mother over the week-end.

Among young people home from school to enjoy this week-end's excellent skiing and skating conditions were Margaret Ives, Anne Learycraft and Carl Schleicher.

The Wednesday evening hours in the library are proving very popular. Each week brings an increased number of readers to browse in the library and to take advantage of this chance to make leisurely research, with the assistance of a willing librarian, relieved of the pressure of everyday circulation.

Twelve members of the Christian Endeavor attended the annual banquet in the Church of the Comforter in Kingston Friday.

After a short trip to New York Mildred Kennedy has returned to continue her visit in Woodstock.

An interesting meeting of the Missionary Society of the Dutch Reformed Church was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Alida Hiseley. Papers were read by Mrs. Elizabeth Barnes on Kentucky missionary work, and Mrs. Samuel Campbell on Arabian missionary work.

Mrs. Ida Hiseley was elected treasurer. The meeting was followed by refreshments.

Sons Born.

Woodstock, Feb. 9. Sons were born to Mrs. Allen Dean Elwyn and Mrs. Louis Lewis in the Benedictine Hospital on Sunday morning. The babies were born within a few hours of each other and both mothers are in the same hospital room. Mothers, sons and fathers are all doing well.

The past year brought added improvements in the manufacture of fertilizer materials. It becomes increasingly important for growers to study their fertilizer needs and to buy the right one for the right crop.

This one, made of brown straw and finished with a brown grosgrain ribbon band, is designed with a chenille-dotted veil tied under the chin in a manner reminiscent of "horsemans carriage" days. MAKE A HIT AS A WIT WITH LOVELY JOKES AND TOASTS

Here's to your reputation as a wit! With a few loazs, waggish or wise, a fund of sprightly jokes, you'll be the life of the party.

Suppose HE raises his glass with this toast: "Here's to love, the only fire against which there is no insurance."

You flash back: "Here's to the Men. God bless them! Worst of my sins, I confess them. In loving them all, be they great or small."

Or perhaps this suits the occasion better: "I drink to one, and only one. And may that one be me."

Then set the table in an uproar with your sprightly jokes. Treat out the one about the doctor telling a man his wife's mind is gone. "I'm not surprised," the husband says. "She's been giving me a piece of it every day for 20 years."

And where do you learn to be so droll? Why, from our 40-page booklet, JOKES AND TOASTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS! Among the 127 witty toasts are several to fit each occasion. You'll keep the fun rolling at every party with some of the 157 merry jokes.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Unreal parade: Peggy Wood is always being mistaken for Frieda Inescort and vice versa. It may be because both once played in "Trelawney of the Wells" and one followed the other as Portia with George Arliss.

That was how Miss Wood (being gracious) explained it on the set after, knowing both, I'd talked to her five minutes under the impression she was Frieda Inescort. Adventure like this are disconcerting, and possibly dangerous. What, for instance, if the actress you think is somebody else happens NOT to like the actress you think she is?

Roger Pryor's birthday present to his bride, Ann Sothorn, was a book of round-trip airplane tickets—Hollywood to Chicago—so she can visit him.

Stars—And Babies
Ray Jones, one of the best of studio still photographers, attributes his success in snapping stars to eight years of training as a photographer of babies back in Superior, Wis.

"The technique is the same," he said. "You've got to catch a baby at the exact moment or you've lost your picture."

What I'd thought he was going to say was you can't reason with a baby, either.

Preston Foster has a photographic "guest book" for visitors at his home. Instead of signing, the guest records a greeting—and anything else he wants, with no censorship fears.

Shirley Temple Rival
Patsy Lee Parsons, five and a half, is here from Parkersburg, W. Va., ready to hurl her threat at Shirley Temple's crown.

Patsy Lee, very cute, is set for "New Faces of 1937," which should be warning enough for people who hate child actors.

On the Warner lot is a picture called "Public Wedding." They could film a sequel to that and call it "Public Honeymoon," confining the story merely to what was made of Dick Powell and Joan Blondell's. But they won't, be sure of that.

"Maid of Salem," the Colbert-MacMurray witchcraft movie, is a well-done piece but many of us thought the ending lacked zest. What it lacked, we decided, was an "old-fashioned D. W. Griffith finish," with hero riding to rescue in nick of time.

Well, Frank Lloyd says they made that finish, and were afraid of it—afraid audiences would laugh.

Locks have been used since earliest times. The ancient Egyptians used wooden locks of crude construction. Locks and keys of bronze and iron have been found in the ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum.

PALENTVILLE POSTMASTER SENTENCED TO FOUR MONTHS

New York, Feb. 8 (Special).—A sentence of four months in the Federal House of Detention here was given Edgar Griffin, former postmaster at Palenville, when he pleaded guilty before Judge Alfred C. Cox in United States District Court here today to defrauding the government of money through the issuance of money orders for which he had received no money.

The indictment refers to two such money orders, one for $100, made out to the order of the Postal Telegraph Company, and another, for $70.

In neither case did he receive money, on behalf of the government, or make a remittance to cover the amounts.

Redeemer Lenten Services Planned

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will open the Lenten season on Ash Wednesday with a special service at 7:45 o'clock.

The pastor, the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, will preach the first in a series of mid-week sermons based on the theme: "Heart-Searching Questions on Our Saviour's Passion."

The remainder of the series is as follows: February 18, "Shall I Ignore Him?"; February 25, "Shall I Desert Him?"; March 4, "Shall I Condemn Him?"; March 11, "Shall I Compromise Him?"; March 18, "Shall I Mock Him?"; March 24, "Shall I Crucify Him?"; March 25, "Shall I Glorify Him?"

On Good Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the downtown Protestant Churches will join together in a service at the Redeemer Church. In the evening of Good Friday the senior choir of the church will present a sacred cantata.

The Sunday morning services during Lent are built around the theme, "Making the Resources of Religion Effective." They are as follows: February 14, "Empowering Character"; February 21, "Uplifting Borrowing"; February 28, "Outfitting the Soul"; March 7, "Feeding the Spirit"; March 14, "Convincing the Mind"; March 21, "Dedicating the Life"; March 28, Easter Sunday, "Glimpsing the Eternal."

The Sunday evening services will be featured by motion picture reels from the life of Christ. The reels are well chosen and depict Christ in a setting actually taken in the Holy Land. After the projection of the film the pastor will give a brief meditation based upon the content of the film. The series consists of the following: February 14, "The Young Man of Nazareth"; February 21, "The Day of Decision"; February 28, "The Healing Ministry"; March 7, "The Teaching Ministry"; March 14, "Hours of Trial." The evening service of March 21 will be featured by the one-act religious drama of Charles Rann Kennedy, "The Terrible Meek."

There will be general interest in the fact that on an average during the past year a new Grange hall in the United States has been dedicated every week.

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Stocks acted a bit tired in today's market, although a few rubbers, steels, motors and specialties managed to trudge onward.

Dealings, fast at the opening, dwindled later and prices were well mixed near the final hour. Transfers were around 2,500,000 shares.

Liquidation was of the mild sort, in view of a variety of items tending to confirm the forward economic tilt. The Washington court reform battle was watched closely, but observers expressed the opinion this was more or less of a neutral market influence at present.

Bonds and commodities drifted somewhat lower.

Up fractions to around 2 at the best were U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone, Chrysler, White Motors, Mack Truck, Graham-Paige, Bethlehem, J. I. Case, Standard Oil of N. J., and California, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Loew's.

In the backward division were American Telephone, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Western Union, Montgomery Ward, American Can, General Electric, du Pont, Kennecott, American Smelting, Pennsylvania and Southern States.

Low-priced issues were again turned over in relatively large volumes but most held to an extremely narrow range.

More hope for the rails was seen in the combined January carloadings of Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and N. Y. Central. The aggregate was up 16.4 per cent above the 1936 figure.

Brokers with foreign connections said buying in American securities from London had expanded recently. Purchases from abroad last year were placed by the Federal Reserve governors at between $100,000,000 and $500,000,000.

Eastern Rails and Steel Report Gains

Effect of the auto strike was clearly shown in a General Motors report of a sales decline last month. Despite floods and strikes the three largest eastern rails ran ahead of the carrier field last month in traffic totals, while the steel industry reported production at the highest level for any January in history.

The Steel Institute scheduled this week's operations at 80.6 per cent of capacity, equal to the previous recovery high. Export copper rose to a new high yesterday at 12.75 cents a pound, scrap copper and brass recorded advances of $4 to $5 a ton. Zinc went up 15 points to 6.4 cents a pound.

Pennsylvania, New York Central and B. & O. showed a combined increase in carloadings of 16.4 per cent over January, 1936; other roads showed an 11.2 per cent gain.

Southern Railway's January gross is estimated at more than $8,000,000 up 8 per cent over January, 1935.

Chicago & North Western system in 1936 had consolidated income available for fixed charges of more than $7,350,000 vs. $5,858,966 in 1935.

U. S. Hoffman Machinery reported 1936 net of $447,930, equal to $1.92 a common share vs. 56 cents.

American Rolling Mills 1936 net is estimated at $2.75 a common share vs. $2.41 in 1935. Crane Co. is expected to report 1936 net of $1.50 to $2 a common share vs. 18 cents in previous year.

Lullum Steel's 1936 net is estimated at $2.22 a common share, a record, vs. $1.53 in 1935.

General Motors January domestic sales to dealers totaled 70,901 units vs. 131,134 in January last year; sales to domestic consumers were 92,998 last month vs. 102,034 year ago.

Foreign buying of American securities last year totaled between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

Fifth Avenue Coach sought Transit Commission authority to incur $1,845,387 indebtedness for purchase of 100 busses from Yellow Truck.

Stock volume Monday was 2,990,000 shares vs. 3,320,000 Friday. Commodities were firmer, with grains strong and coffee at new highs. Sugar was down.

General Motors late last night revealed collapse of strike negotiations, announcing flat refusal to compromise with the union on the collective bargaining issue.

President Green of the A. F. L. is reported to have demanded that Governor Murphy bar any recognition of the C. I. O. as sole bargaining agents.

The death toll reached 431, as additional refugees succumbed in relief depots. The refugee list dropped steadily from its peak of nearly a million but hundreds of thousands still were homeless.

Malagans Join Rebels in Gayety

Malaga, Feb. 9 (AP)—Laughing Malagan girls and victorious Fascist soldiers danced in gay abandon today through the sacked and burned districts of this Mediterranean city while armed "clean-up" squads of military police brought order after three weeks of terror.

The city's 400,000 inhabitants quickly recovered from their weeks of tension during the insurgent southern army's victorious advance and the ravages of anarchist bands which the Fascist officers said left the city "in a horrible state."

Malaga's population staged huge demonstrations in the streets of the city and the suburbs to greet the army which occupied the last important government seaport on the southern coast virtually without resistance from its Socialist defenders.

Doors opened and Fascist sympathizers emerged into the sunlight for the first time in the months of Socialist rule.

Even the vanquished Socialists joined in the celebration, seeking to merge their identity with the celebrating populace to avoid capture.

Entrance of the Fascist soldiers changed the city into a military camp.

Most observers expected Generalissimo Francisco Franco to use his crack southern army, with its enthusiasm now at high pitch, to drive northward against Almeria, Cartagena, Murcia and Alicante.

Waves Batter Mississippi, Dikes

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 9 (AP)—A wave bombardment helped ponderous crests sustain flood perils along the mid-Mississippi today but strained levees held and the Red Cross began mapping rehabilitation plans for the valley.

Winds up to 38 miles an hour out of the northwest rolled combers against the sturdy dikes but army engineers reported no major damage and, with the peaks past Memphis, reiterated belief the worst was over.

Red Cross officials' faith in this view was reflected in shaping of a tentative rehabilitation program for 75,000 refugees in Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and western Kentucky.

Senator Bulkeley, (D-Ohio) said President Roosevelt was sympathetic toward Bulkeley's bill to set up an Ohio valley authority empowered to reforest river slopes, build dams and check soil erosion.

The President's flood relief commission, headed by Harry L. Hopkins, reported after a tour of the flood sector an urgent need for housing to replace water-wrecked homes; liberalized credit and increased health protection.

The death toll reached 431, as additional refugees succumbed in relief depots. The refugee list dropped steadily from its peak of nearly a million but hundreds of thousands still were homeless.

Pinkerton Agent "Trailed" McGrady

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Former Pinkerton Detective William E. Martin told Senate investigators today he was instructed to "shadow" Edward L. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, while McGrady was trying to settle a Chevrolet Motor Company strike in Toledo, Ohio, in May, 1935.

Martin said Pinkerton officials ordered him to take a hotel room next to McGrady's and to listen to the confidant's conversations.

This attempt failed, the youthful employee of the national detective agency related, because McGrady's voice did not penetrate the hotel partition.

On another occasion he failed to follow McGrady because he missed a cab, Martin said.

"I got hell for that," he added. Martin said Pinkerton officials obtained the room next to McGrady's by arrangement with the hotel management. He testified McGrady was supposed to be having conferences with various labor leaders, and he attempted two or three times to overhear the discussions, but was unsuccessful each time.

Relating some of his earlier experiences Martin said he "shadowed" George Bowen, general organizer of the International Association of Machinists, at Columbus, Ohio, in May, 1936. Names of railroad workers on whom Bowen called were turned over to the Cincinnati office, Martin said.

R. L. Burnside, assistant superintendent of the Pinkerton Detroit office, testified he "couldn't remember" instructing Martin to "shadow" McGrady.

"If Martin says I did, it must be so," he added.

The shadowing was intended to "get general information on the Chevrolet strike situation," Burnside added.

"Do you often shadow government men?" asked Senator Thomas (D-Utah).

"We would if it was legitimate," Burnside replied.

He said McGrady had not been followed on other occasions "to my knowledge."

BAHL PRAISES KINGSTON POLICE FOR QUICK WORK

Feb. 8, 1937. Kingston Police Department, Kingston, N. Y.

We wish to thank the Kingston Police Department for the excellent work they did in locating the alleged robbers who stole a large sum of merchandise from our place of business on 86 East Pierpont street, last night. You certainly did your share of work in a tactful way.

The radio cars we think are a marvelous thing for the city of Kingston. When notified the police cars were immediately on the lookout and you did not give up until you had your man.

The people of Kingston can be thankful for the wonderful work you do and the way things are managed.

Respectfully yours, ALEX BAHL & SON.

Major Proposals for Football Changes

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—Sympathies of football coaches, as reckoned yesterday from their annual post-mortem on the late season, favor the offensive.

The coaches' week-end huddle over grid rules left the impression that the offensive got the large share of any "breaks" in the tutors' attitude toward revamping the rules.

Three of their four major proposals for rule changes—involving lesser penalty for the illegal shift, the forward pass, and the grounded punt—were definitely pro-offensive.

The fourth, concerning forward pass interference, while favoring the defense, was only to be expected in view of the demand for clarification of the defensive team's right.

Concerning the rule committee of the American Football Coaches' Association, the mentors recommended a new wording of the interference rule to the National Collegiate Athletic Association which implies greater leeway for the defense.

But in other proposals the coaches recommended reduction of the illegal shift penalty, favored return of the ball to the offensive if a forward pass strikes an ineligible man or behind the line of scrimmage and suggested the downed punt no longer be classed as a foul.

Hound, Kennel Show Combined

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Bringing a breath of the wide-open spaces and a touch of rare color to the rather cut-and-dried proceedings of a big bench show, the annual hound show of the Masters of Foxhounds Association has been combined with the Westminster Kennel Club show which opens tomorrow in Madison Square Garden.

The proceedings in judging, the two are almost as different as black and white.

In the kennel show, although there is a record entry list of 3,144 dogs of 96 different breeds, the procedure is much the same throughout. Each dog, carefully guarded by its handler, is paraded across the ring and posed. The judge, inspecting each, continues until he has selected the best.

When the hounds come in, appearance, grooming and conformity to the standards also count, but there are plenty of other things. In the first place, the handlers are required to appear in full hunt livery.

And the principal competition is among the packs, not individuals.

In place of the staid posing there's plenty of action. When a half dozen packs come into the ring together, the huntmen and whippers-in have their work cut out to keep the packs separated and under control and to parade their dogs before the judges.

Adding further color will be a horn blowing contest, open only to huntmen and whippers-in of recognized or registered packs or amateurs holding those positions.

Eddie Collins Says Tradition Is With Boston Red Sox in 1937

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Eddie Collins, relying completely on the complete unreliability of baseball, figures tradition will be on the side of his Boston Red Sox this season.

"No favorite has won the American League pennant since we returned in 1921," began Eddie, explaining the "no" meant the Philadelphia Athletics.

"The A's were favored again in 1922 and the Yankees won. In 1923 the Yankees won when the Yankees were liked. In 1924 Detroit came through and repeated the feat year after year and here he held his head, well, the Red Sox were favored and as I remember, they didn't win."

"The point Eddie makes is the fact that the Sox to be favored this year, and he'll tell you without much encouragement that this is his wish."

"This year we can go into training camp relaxed. Last year we were really on the spot. We bought some great players and somebody figured out that if each of them pitched his best year, somebody would stop us."

"Pressure off now."

"Well, Fox did have a great year. But we've got to win it. The Sox didn't get anywhere with them."

pressure on them was terrific. But it's off now. The pressure's on the Yankees."

Collins thinks the deal that brought Finkler Hixkins to the Red Sox from Philadelphia for Bill Werber was a great help.

"We don't have any doubts about that third base spot now. We're thinking about second base at the moment. If Bobby Doerr, the kid we got from San Diego, comes through, we should be in pretty good shape."

Collins said he believed the success of the Red Sox depended a great deal on the ability of the youngsters on the squad to push the veterans.

Young Blood The Thing.

"Young blood does something to a club. I think Young DiMaggio last year made the Yankees because he was the veterans' identity of competition. If our young ball players have developed far enough to make our stars step, there's not telling what the Red Sox may do."

At the moment Eddie is a little discouraged because the American League didn't trade more. "The Indians came to us and talked about getting Rick Ferrell while we were in the market. We didn't want to get rid of Ferrell, but we think it's good to shake the team around so we made them an offer. I think it was a better deal than they made with the Browns, but we didn't get anywhere with them."

Collins thinks the deal that brought Finkler Hixkins to the Red Sox from Philadelphia for Bill Werber was a great help.

"We don't have any doubts about that third base spot now. We're thinking about second base at the moment. If Bobby Doerr, the kid we got from San Diego, comes through, we should be in pretty good shape."

Collins said he believed the success of the Red Sox depended a great deal on the ability of the youngsters on the squad to push the veterans.

Young Blood The Thing.

"Young blood does something to a club. I think Young DiMaggio last year made the Yankees because he was the veterans' identity of competition. If our young ball players have developed far enough to make our stars step, there's not telling what the Red Sox may do."

At the moment Eddie is a little discouraged because the American League didn't trade more. "The Indians came to us and talked about getting Rick Ferrell while we were in the market. We didn't want to get rid of Ferrell, but we think it's good to shake the team around so we made them an offer. I think it was a better deal than they made with the Browns, but we didn't get anywhere with them."

Pressure off now.

Well, Fox did have a great year. But we've got to win it. The Sox didn't get anywhere with them."

pressure on them was terrific. But it's off now. The pressure's on the Yankees."

Heart Will Act as Long as Blood Supply Lasts

The heart-beat consists of a relaxation, then a powerful squeeze, like the closing of a fist, states an authority in Literary Digest. In the relaxation phase, the heart fills with blood. It then contracts, sending two powerful streams, one through the lungs, the other through the body. The right auricle fills with turgid, venous blood which flows through a flap valve into the right ventricle. The muscle then contracts, driving the blood through the pulmonary artery into the lungs. Returning from the lungs, the blood flows into the left auricle. On the next relaxation, it pours through a flap valve into the powerful left ventricle. The subsequent contraction swishes it, bright red, crammed with oxygen, into the aorta, the largest artery of the body, from which tributary arteries branch away to all parts of the body.

To keep the beat in proper rhythm, serving somewhat the same purpose as the balance-wheel of a watch, the heart has a little bundle of nervous material in the right auricle known as the pacemaker. But if anything goes wrong with the rhythmic nerve impulses, the heart will go on beating, though jerkily and irregularly. Amazingly enough, the heart continues to beat even if removed from the body, detached from all nerves, as long as its blood supply continues.

Antarctica Desolate

Antarctica is desolate and uninhabited except for penguins, seals, whales and water life. In the southern hemisphere the people who correspond most nearly to Eskimos are the Tierra del Fuegosians of southern Argentina and Chile. The Yagans on the southern island live under conditions of extraordinary hardship. In order to obtain food, they venture naked with small canoes into the tremendous seas. Life is a constant battle with starvation and a severe climate. They have no higher social unit than the family.

Mardi Gras For Lepers

Caville, La., Feb. 9 (AP).—The Louisiana Leprosy Colony had its own Mardi Gras today, similar to the festival in the down-river city of New Orleans. Practically all the 375 patients took part in the pre-Lenten celebration. Some of the lepers were able to ride bicycles. Others were assigned to wheel chairs. Still others, in costume, were able only to view the little parade from their beds.

BIG DEFICIT SHOWN FOR PANAMA CANAL

Revision of Toll System Is Seen Necessary.

Washington, D. C.—Citing a deficit of $947,254 in the operation of the Panama canal for the fiscal year of 1936, the annual report of the secretary of war admits that the present system of collecting tolls permits inequalities, manipulations and endless reductions in charges, resulting in losses to the United States and unfair advantages to shipping interests.

The report of Secretary Harry H. Woodring makes no recommendation that congress increase the toll charges to a point where they will at least pay the interest charges on the capital investment of $460 million dollars and eliminate the unfair discrimination against producers of the central states in favor of those of the Pacific coast and eastern seaboard. However, he does recommend legislation to correct the present system of measurement of vessels, which, he declares, has "no justification in equity among the several types of ships and may be considered as a form of subsidy to certain types which are able to take advantage of the system."

"Subsidizes" East and West. Manufacturers and other shippers of the Middle West have long maintained that the Panama canal toll charges are so low that the effect is to subsidize shippers of the East and West. It is cheaper, for example, for a manufacturer on the eastern seaboard to ship his products to the West coast by water than for a middle western manufacturer to ship to either coast by rail. The argument of these producers, as well as consumers' representatives, is that the toll charges should be increased to a point where they will give promise of amortizing the canal investment.

Legislation such as Secretary Woodring proposes failed in the last session of congress, but an act was passed which authorized the President to appoint a "neutral" committee of three members for the purpose of making an independent study and investigation of the rules for the measurement of vessels using the Panama canal and the tolls that should be charged therefor.

Recommended Legislation. The annual report recommends legislation for the following purposes: "First, to re-establish in the present law the system originally intended by the congress, which, through technical interpretation, has become ineffective—a system based upon the earning capacity of vessels and patterned generally after that in use for ship canals which has operated successfully over a period of many years and which is designed to avoid the very inequalities which result from the dual system now in effect.

"Second, to abolish the unsatisfactory, unfair, dual system of measurement whereby toll charges are based on one tonnage rating and the limiting factor on another different and smaller tonnage rating which is subject to manipulation.

"Third, to regain control over the tolls charged and to stop further and apparently endless reductions in tolls paid."

Custom of Holding Wakes Traced to the Old Norse

The term wake has been traced back to the Old Norse vaka, and is met in Swedish with the same form. In Norwegian it is vaka, and we derive it from Old English woc (1200), which became wake about the same time, according to a writer in the Literary Digest. The watching of relatives and friends beside the body of a dead person, and the feasting and drinking that took place during a part of this time was known among the Irish and Scots as long ago as 1400. A wake was originally an annual festival or holiday during which time a fair was held, particularly in Scotland. It was the feast of the dedication of the parish church.

The annual fairs held in Lancashire are called wakes. The wakes are generally held on or about the day of the saint to whom a church is dedicated. These are the grand events of the year from which dates are often reckoned; and it is customary for friends from a distance to visit each other during Wakes week. In England one frequently hears people lamenting that the Wakes are beginning—a sure sign that winter is not far off. Bowdon Wakes are the earliest, and they have given rise to the proverbial saying—"When Bowdon Wakes is at Bowdon, winter is at Newbridge Hollow." Newbridge Hollow is about two miles from Bowdon. At Moberly it is, or was, the custom for farmhouse servants to be hired at the Wakes.

Victor Herbert

Victor Herbert was born in Dublin, Ireland, February 1, 1859. He began his musical education in Germany at the age of seven, with the cello as his instrument. Some years later he became principal cellist in the court orchestra and appeared in many concerts throughout Europe. In 1886 he married the prima donna, Therese Forster, and in the same year came to this country. He played it and conducted many orchestras, serving for a time as bandmaster of the 22nd Regiment Band of New York. From 1898 to 1904 he conducted the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra and after that date Victor Herbert's New York orchestra. His compositions cover many fields of music, but he is best known for his comic operas. He died in New York city, May 24, 1933.

Man Of Steel

Stalin Defied The Law And Lived To Make It

(The second of a series of articles on the life of Joseph Stalin, Russia's uncrowned self-made ruler.)

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

New York, Feb. 9.—From a novel to leadership of 175,000,000 people in history's greatest political experiment—such is the story of Joseph Stalin, Russia's man of steel.

Stalin's accent decidedly labels him as a native of Georgia, Southern Russia. He has wandered far since his lowly beginning in Tiflis on December 21, 1879, and his 57 years have been filled with hardships, dangers and vicissitudes such as rarely fall to man.

His mother was a Caucasian beauty who inspired her shoemaker husband to find the hard-earned pennies to start young Joseph on the road to education.

She is a silver-haired old lady of 76 now, but she still is beautiful to the steel man. "Soso"—diminutive of "Joseph"—is her pet name for this son who always smiles at her but whose frown can make men tremble. He visits her in Georgia as often as he can. The maker of shoes is dead.

Studied For Priesthood

The parents wanted Joseph to be a priest, and when he was about 15 he was sent to a seminary. But the ferment of revolt already was in him. He joined an underground Marxian group and although a mere boy he soon became a teacher of the revolutionary doctrines. For this he was expelled from the school, whereupon he started out as a full-fledged rebel against Czarism.

For years he was banded from pillar to post as he preached his gospel. Always the secret police of the Czar's dreaded Okhrana were on his heels. Frequently he was in hiding and hungry. Disguises saved him sometimes, but often he fell into the hands of the authorities.

Arrested 16 Times

Between 1902 and 1913 he was arrested, jailed or exiled sixteen times. On five occasions he was consigned to prison in Siberia, and just as often he escaped. Finally in 1913 he was sent to a closely guarded jail in the frozen wastes of far northern Siberia, and there he remained until the overthrow of the Czar released him.

Stalin fought through the civil wars which gave birth to the Soviet government, and became a trusted lieutenant of Lenin, whom he long had known. The steel man's defense of the city of Tsaritsa (now called Stalingrad in his honor) was one of the mile-posts in the October revolution of 1917.

Took Lenin's Place

In 1922 Stalin became secretary of the communist party, a position which he was wise enough to see would make him the power behind Lenin. In this post he framed the plan for a federation of the various autonomous Soviet republics and districts of Russia, and this federation became the U. S. S. R.—Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Mystery in Construction of Christophe's Citadel

A mystery equivalent to the one concerning how the stone was transported to build the pyramids of Egypt is duplicated in the great fortress of Christophe at Cap-Haitien, Haiti, one of the greatest ruins in the world. Built by Christophe, an early Negro president, later declared king, it is not far from where Columbus installed his first garrison and established his first colony. Columbus returned after a year's absence to find both garrison and colony wiped out—massacred by the natives.

Visitors to the ruins of the great fortress wonder how the Haitians ever hauled the huge stones and massive cannon up the steep trail. Many a toiler gave up his life in the construction of the pile. Christophe is reported to have shot down any man who pronounced his burden too heavy.

The walls of the fortress, which was also a palace, rise from a precipice to a height of 130 feet. There are many tiers of corridors. The lower ones show the cells where prisoners were forced to stand upright for days at a time. The higher corridors show long rows of old naval guns lying ashore on their broken-down carriages. At many points are great piles of cannon balls, slowly being eaten away by rust.

EXPULSED FROM SCHOOL

From an art exhibit in Tiflis, Joseph Stalin's home town, come these reproductions of paintings depicting his life. The first, by V. Bagration, shows his expulsion from a religious seminary.

A DANGEROUS RED

"Stalin With Fellow Revolutionaries at Beginning of 1900" is Artist L. Volkonsky's title for this picture. Despite his youth, Stalin then was already a fiery glotter.

EXILE IN SIBERIA

Five times, Stalin was sent to Siberia. This painting by N. Mariash depicts him reading a letter from Lenin during his imprisonment.

When Lenin died in 1924 Stalin stepped into the place of his leader. The obscure Georgian had had, in 20 years of struggle, climbed to control of an empire.

Opposed by Trotsky

Fierly Leon Trotsky, commander in chief of the Soviet armies and an outstanding political figure, had expected to get this great position. He became Stalin's bitter opponent and many times tried to unsettle his rival. Then Trotsky was sent into exile.

BUILD SOCKET FOR EYE OF TELESCOPE

Workers Busy on "Bones" to Hold Huge Mirror.

Philadelphia. — Lester, a tiny community just beyond Philadelphia's southwestern boundary, basks in the glory Corning, N. Y., reflected upon itself when it built the giant 200-inch mirror for Mount Palomar observatory, high up in the mountains above San Diego, Calif.

Here scientific eyes are observing, step by step, construction of the intricate socket in which the 18-foot, 8-inch "eye" can roll in comfort as it scans the heavens. Work on the mounting began six months ago and is not expected to be completed before next September.

Work on Steel 'Bones'

Laboriously and with the greatest care, workmen in the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's factory here are fastening together daily the steel bones and ligaments which will support, rotate and focus the massive telescope mirror and its subordinate mirrors, all now being ground to proper curvatures in California. Scientists estimated four tons of glass must be removed from the first one.

After completion the telescope can be ridden at both ends and along either side, while the huge yoke in which the cage-like telescope tube will swing is to be a fully-equipped four-room apartment, with electric lights, hot and cold running water and probably air conditioning.

In spite of its million-pound weight, scientists say, the telescope will roll easily and be under excellent control. Engineers have the friction problem so well in hand that the giant tube can be shifted by the pressure of an infant's hand. They are, however, installing a small electric motor to accomplish this task.

Huge Bearings

Only a fraction of the strength of a one-horsepower motor is required to move the great instrument, the biggest bearing of which will be forty-six feet in diameter.

This is the split-ring or horse-shoe-shaped piece which constitutes the north support. The outer surface will be machined glass-smooth and will rest on two patented oil pads, floating and sliding on a film of oil three one-thousandths of an inch thick. The oil is fed under pressure.

Westinghouse's executives, who are used to the bigness of turbines, condensers, generators and the like, say they know of nothing similar anywhere to compare in size with this.

When the telescope tube is finished, the fabricated pieces will be carried by ship to California and thence overland to the summit of Mount Palomar, in special over-size trucks used in the Boulder Dam construction and over specially-built, wide turn roads.

U. S. Navy engineers in charge of the observatory construction estimated three additional years will be required before the great "scope" is ready to take its wide turn in the heavens, reaching out through eight times more space than the current largest "scope" at Mount Wilson.

During the first eight months of 1936 the railways of the United States carried 28,000,000 more passengers than for the same period of the preceding year. This gain was equal to almost one-fourth of our entire population.

Mrs. Johnson Plans To Explore Congo

Los Angeles, Feb. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Martin Johnson, a pretty brunette with a broken leg, lodged in a hospital here today, planning a canoe invasion of the Belgian Congo alone.

Widowed and injured by an auto crash near Los Angeles a month ago, she has not given up the wish her husband shared with her for years.

"I am quite capable of managing an expedition by myself," she said. "Any woman who likes it could be a successful explorer."

A pilot in her own right, Mrs. Johnson said she had decided not to continue the flights which took her and her husband over 60,000 miles of jungles. But she added:

"I do not believe that I will experience any fear in the air."

She asked not to be reminded of "the accident." It's the future she is thinking about.

"I want to go to the Belgian Congo. That's where we had planned to explore next."

LENTEN SERVICES AT IMMANUEL LUTHERAN

The season of Lent will again be observed in Immanuel Lutheran Church on Livingston street by a special series of Lenten services. The pastor, the Rev. E. L. Witte, will preach series of sermons on "The Seven Words of Christ on the Cross." The first meditation is to be held tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, at 7:30 a. m. The theme of the sermon will be "The Word of the High Priest: Forgive them, for they know not what they do." A brief organ recital, beginning at 7:15 will be held before each service. The public cordially invited to attend. The program follows:

Prelude—Legato Unaccompanied Hymn—Savior, I Will Ponder You Children's Chorus—No Greater Love—Von Berg Hymn—O Lamb of God, Most Holy Offertory—Jesus Thy Love, O God Hymn—Now the Day is Over. Postlude—Lento Herwig

Cure-alls are still offered to the ailing. They do not appear so frequently as in the more gullible past but now and then a particularly offensive one appears, says the Food and Drug Administration.
